- 1. ASSUMPTION OF RESPONSIBILITIES AND RISK: Martial Arts training are a potentially dangerous activity. Bumps, bruises, scrapes, scratches and soreness are commonplace, and most students will encounter this sort of minor injury from time to time in their training. More serious injuries are possible, including sprains, strains, twists, cramps, and injuries of similar magnitude, and the student can be expected to encounter these injuries infrequently. The possibility of more serious injury exists, including fractured bones, broken bones, torn ligaments, though not all students encounter such serious injuries. There remains, despite safety precautions, the remote possibility of crippling or death, though this is certainly not expected in this martial art class. I understand the above statement of risk, and I understand the rights and responsibilities of students. I assume responsibility for my own safety (or the safety of my child), understanding and accepting the risks involved with martial arts training. Even if the instructor has informed me that no serious injuries have ever happened in this school or with any of the instructors, I understand that this does not mean that there is no possibility of harm. By assuming this risk, I completely absolve all instructors, staff, guests, student/members, landlords, management companies, national organizations and any and all other parties of liability for my harm, unless intentionally caused in criminal conduct

2. NOTICE OF PHYSICAL CONTACT: Complete Martial Arts training involves a wide variety of skills. While practicing these skills, Members may have contact with any portion of the body. The groin may be the target of kicks, strikes or grabs. The chest, buttocks, groin or any part of the body may be contacted by any part of the training partner’s body during training with Martial Arts techniques, or incidentally contacted while performing a Martial Arts technique which targets another portion of the body. When male and female Members train together, or when adult and minor Member train together, and in any other training combination, the purpose and intent of the school, instructors and staff is to provide an environment for all Members to learn and practice Martial Arts and self-defense. Members are expected to conduct themselves appropriately at all times to ensure the best training results for everyone. Should any Member feel that a training partner is engaging in contact beyond the scope of training, or a training partner is taking undue and unacceptable advantage of training contact, or if a Member is made uncomfortable by any training exercise or partner, then that Member has the right to withdraw from the exercise or drill. If the contact of a training partner appears inappropriate, the Member should inform the instructor privately. If the conduct of the training partner or any training partner appears criminal, then the instructor should be informed and the authorities may be notified either by the Member or the instructor, or both.
